The Style Academy tutors will be heading back to The Glenmuick Estate this April to offer over 60 workshops and courses over a three-month period.

Originally launched in November 2012, this spring there will be an additional 30 new craft workshops and classes from many of Scotland's leading instructors. Felt making, quilting, embroidery, letterpress and a range of food and wine-related courses will be available.

Plus, The style Academy will be introducing willow weaving, garden design and foraging classes to its offering. And, in addition to day courses, attendees can enjoy residential creative breaks there too which is fabulous if you live further afield.
